Vote 'No' on 5-Mill Hope School Tax Hike

In the school election next Tuesday, Dec. 5, the voters of Hope School District 1-A will answer the school board's request to increase the school millage from present 35 to 40.

We had this same issue before us a few years back and the voters, turning out for a record-breaking total of nearly 2,000, rejected the 5-mill increase by two to one.

The Hope board invited your editor to meet with them about six weeks ago, and at that time told him they were again considering the 5-mill increase request. And your editor regretfully informed the board that the newspaper's position was unchanged, and that we would advise the voters to reject the increase.

I think every public-spirited citizen who has studied the operating figures of the local schools will agree they need more revenue. The point on which we hang up is how that extra revenue will be raised.

The board talks in terms of millage. If millage alone would solve the schools' problem then the problem would have been solved long ago—for when this writer came to Hope in 1929 the schools operated under an 18-mill ceiling, which was later abolished; the local millage now is 35, and in some parts of the state it approaches 60. Therefore today's request for 40 mills is merely a forerunner of 45 or 50 in years to come—and with the basic problem of school support still unsolved.

In all fairness to the school board I want to say that their own statement of facts admits this condition. Here is what the board said in a statement dated Oct. 27, 1961:

"How does the Hope millage compare with the rest of Arkansas school districts? About 2 mills below average for the state.

"How does the assessed valuation per child compare with other school districts of comparable size? Hope school district is one of the lowest in local support, millage, and assessed valuation per child.

"How does Hope district compare in salary schedule? Sixty per cent of schools in state are above Hope."

In other words, between teachers' salaries, millage, and assessments, it is the assessing level where we show up the worst. And it is an old rule of business—whether public or private—that you repair the weakest spot first.

What the school board admits about assessments is borne out by the figures at Hempstead county courthouse.

In 1929, when the dollar was 100 cents, instead of today's 33, the county's total assessment was $8,132,592.

The bottom figure of the depression, 1935, was $5,723,896.

Today's total (1960) is $13,517,015.

But converted into today's dollar, and not allowing anything for new construction, that 1929 figure would be worth $24,000,000—yet today we come up with barely half of it. This discrepancy shows up in the price of everything we buy today compared with 1929, and particularly in the inflated insurance coverage we carry on this deflated assessment. Look at your own property's assessment measured by your insurance coverage.

Your editor has tried to do something about this. He served at his own expense on Governor Cherry's state-wide Assessment Committee, and when that failed he carried on a state-wide fight through the sales tax to require local districts to bolster their tax assessing level. And in 1958, at his insistence, the school districts of this county launched a county-wide appraisal to mark up assessments.

That 1958 appraisal helped the Hope school district by $16,000 per year. Your editor viewed this as a continuing effort. Apparently the school board did not. I offered to help with a continuing appraisal plan. The board said it was the right thing to do—but they couldn't wait.

The board couldn't wait—so now I can't go.

It is this writer's habit to put his money where his mouth is. The Hope Star building represents $40,000. I gave the courthouse a letter on that. They did nothing about a building that was reconstructed in 1955 until I got off a state-wide television program in October 1958, in which I said our company was paying less in inflation-adjusted dollars in 1958, with real estate, than we paid in 1929, without real estate. The next morning the boys were measuring our building for the tax books. Today this $40,000 building is on the tax books for an assessment of $8,070—something over 20%. And our local taxes have gone up from around $200 in 1929 to $750 today.

Is this picture general? You can't know without a continuing appraisal.

To the man with property assessed too low an increase from 35 to 40 mills doesn't mean much.

But it means a great deal to the small man whose property already is fully assessed.

Hempstead has one of the worst assessing records in Arkansas.

The only way you are going to correct that picture is to reject any and all millage increases and compel the school managers to demand adequate assessing at the courthouse. A beginning was made in 1958. Had the effort been continued this request for a 5-mill increase wouldn't be necessary.

Vote 'No' on the millage increase December 5.

Russia Calls for Sealing of Red China

by TOM HOGG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The question of sealing Communist China in the United Nations comes up for decisive debate in the General Assembly today. The United States has scrapped a plan to delay a showdown vote for another year but believes it can still keep the Peiping regime out of the world body.

The explosive debate, which the United States managed to postpone for 10 years, opens with an appeal by the Soviet Union to seal Peiping in place of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists and a call by the United States to keep the Communists out.

The United States and other supporters of the Nationalists decided to meet the Soviet demand head-on after getting a cool reception from most other members for their proposal to dump the question back to the next assembly.

A U.S. spokesman said instead a resolution was being placed before the 103-nation assembly to declare the China question an issue of "substance" which will have to be settled by a two-thirds majority.

U.S. delegates believe the Communists will be unable to muster such a vote behind the Red Chinese, even with heavy support from the 40-nation Asian-African group.

The U.S. spokesman said he had a "fairly reasonable expectation" that the Nationalist Chinese would still have their seats at the end of the assembly debate.

Elsewhere in the U.N.:

The Soviet Union used the veto in the Security Council to kill a United Arab Republic resolution recommending admission of the oil-rich sheikhdom of Kuwait as the U.N.'s 104th member.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin cast the sole negative vote in the 11-nation council.

Zorin used the veto after he failed to win council approval for a proposal to postpone consideration of Kuwait's application until after settlement of Iraq's claim that the little sheikhdom is Iraqi territory.

Some diplomats considered the Soviet veto evidence of a widening rift between the Soviets and U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, once the Arab darling of the Soviet Union. Kuwait's application had the backing of all Arab states except Iraq.

The assembly's main political committee adopted by acclamation an Irish resolution calling on the nuclear powers to work out an agreement to stop the spread of atomic or hydrogen bombs to nations that have them. The committee action assured adoption of the resolution by the General Assembly.

Earlier Thursday the committee, by a 57-12 vote, approved a resolution calling on all nations not having nuclear weapons to join in a pledge not to manufacture them, accept them from other nations or allow them to be stockpiled on their territory. The United States and most of its allies in the North Atlantic Treaty organization voted against the resolution because they believe stockpiling of U.S. nuclear weapons in Europe is necessary for defense against Soviet attack.

Invents Device to Repel Sharks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Hicks has invented an electronic device designed to repel sharks.

He went to the Miami Seaquarium Wednesday to test it. The Navy sent observers, News and cameramen were on hand.

Sitting on a rubber raft in the shark channel, Hicks manned a control box. Wires fastened underneath the raft were supposed to impart an electrical shock to any over-interested shark.

A small, docile shark came along and Hicks gave it an electrical tinkle. Then he switched the charge to an 8-foot brute. The big shark butted the raft and almost upset it.

Hicks scampered quickly to safer grounds.

No Welfare to Persons Able Bodied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has told Arkansas welfare workers to get able-bodied persons who bear illegitimate children off the welfare rolls.

The governor said at a meeting of the Arkansas Association of Public Welfare Workers Thursday night that he would stand behind any worker who got into trouble for dropping such people from the rolls.

Faubus said he would carry the case as high as the White House, if necessary, and "I'll call out the National Guard again if I have to."

At that point he got a round of applause. The governor called out the National Guard to block integration at Little Rock Central High School in 1957.

In an earlier speech, Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams told the welfare workers that the department intends to use a new state law to prosecute persons who "make a profession of collecting welfare checks for illegitimate children."

Adams said taking the support money away from the innocent children would be wrong, but the parents could be penalized under the 1961 law which makes non-support a felony. He said the Welfare Department would to all it could to get county prosecutors to use the law.

Faubus reiterated his stand for welfare aid to deserving individuals, and said abandonment of the program would be a mistake.

Another speaker, Rep. Willard Mills, D-Ark., said if there is any misuse of a federal or state program, there should be a correction made. But he presented a somewhat different viewpoint in one aspect—the viewpoint that aid to dependent children fosters illegitimacy.

Mills said he had discussed this with officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and that they contend only 13 per cent of the children getting aid are illegitimate. He said Congress should look into the situation.

Reduced Charge in Rape Case

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Three men were convicted Thursday of a reduced charge of assault with intent to rape and sentenced to three years in prison.

They had been charged with raping a crippled 21-year-old Pine Bluff woman Oct. 10 at a secluded spot near here. The prosecution had asked the death penalty for all three, Havis B. Holloway, 20; Gerald Dixon, 19, and Havis Terry, 21.

Circuit Judge Henry Smith told the jury to return separate verdicts for the three: find them guilty and give them death or life in prison, reduce the charge, or find the men innocent.

JFK Happy for Services of Arkansan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy hailed the long public service of an "old friend and colleague" today as Brooks Hays was sworn in as a special assistant to the President.

In brief remarks at the ceremony in the cabinet room, Kennedy said Hays will be working on domestic and foreign policy matters and "particularly in the field of trade."

The President characterized this field as "one of the most vital before us."

Hays, a former member of Congress from Arkansas, moved over from assistant secretary of state Dec. 3. The morning service for the week will be 7 a.m. which will feature school students and businessmen to attend and be on their way before 8 a.m. The evening service will be at 7 p.m.

Hays said he is deeply gratified at his new post and for the President's friendship over the years. He told Kennedy jokingly that he understands he will be required to do some speechmaking "but you'd rather I didn't do it this morning."

Among those at the ceremony were Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and members of Hays' family, including two grandchildren.

Hays called particular attention to his 95-year-old mother-in-law, Mrs. Gila Prather.

The exertion it took for her to come here was "a tribute to you as well as myself," Hays told the President.

He said there was a saying that back of every man's achievement is "a proud wife and a surprised mother-in-law."

"She is surprised," he added with a grin at Mrs. Prather. "She thought I would be the president."

The remark drew general laughter from the gathering, which included some colleagues from the Truman administration, including John Steelman who was a presidential assistant, Leslie Biffle who was secretary of the Senate, and Oscar Chapman, secretary of the interior under former President Truman.

Hays recalled serving in the House when Kennedy was a freshman congressman and told the President "it's the highest honor of my life to work for you."

U. S. Troops Defy Reds, Use Road to Berlin

By GENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union today halted nine U.S. Army vehicles for an hour and 14 minutes on the autobahn out of isolated Berlin in a tightened inspection of American convoys on the highway lifeline. The Soviets had warned earlier that such troop movements were provocative and could lead to "dangerous consequences."

The U.S. Army has been moving convoys to and from West Berlin in recent weeks in an apparent test of Western rights of access to the disputed city, 110 miles inside East Germany.

The Soviets halted the nine vehicles, forming the last section of a 150-man convoy en route from Berlin to West Germany, on the ground there was an error in the travel documents. The U.S. autobahn operations officer, Capt. Harry Daniels, was called to straighten out the papers and the nine vehicles were then allowed to go on.

The convoy movement then was completed without further incident. The first two sections of the convoy, eight vehicles and then six about an hour apart, had gone through unhindered. The convoy today was made up of Co. C, 2nd Battle Group, 16th Infantry.

Later in the day, the Soviet news agency Tass returned to the attack. It said such movements are not "dictated by any kind of military considerations or requirements" but are "just a dangerous act of military display."

The agency added that a U.S. Army announcement of more movements next week shows that the U.S. command has decided to bring larger units into the operation.

Explaining today's incident, a U.S. Army spokesman said the Soviets stopped the last group in the convoy because the original

Says Farmers Don't Know Potential

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—One of the major roadblocks to Arkansas' improving the market for its agricultural products lies in the fact that many farmers do not know the potential of their own land or the market demand.

So said H. Layton Lindsey, vice president in Arkansas for the Kroger food store chain. He met with representatives of 10 other food processing and retailing firms at Winthrop Rockefeller's Winrock Farm estate on Petit Jean Mountain near here Thursday.

"Farmers must be given the latest information on current trends in grading, quality, packaging and other steps between actual production and the move to market," Lindsey said. "We must tell them what the retail industry wants."

Former Gov. Ben Laney said that in the past farmers had suffered many disappointments in attempting to market produce and now are cautious about undertaking new projects.

"It takes careful planning and convincing evidence to get a farmer to produce a perishable crop unless he has a sure market," Laney said.

The conference was designed to determine the requirements of the food processors. In a later meeting, probably in March, the processors will be asked if they can meet the requirements.

G. C. Brannon of Jacksonville, Fla., president of the Piggly Wiggly Corp., said farmers must get away from the inclination to deliver their produce in bulk. He said they would do better by grading and identifying it themselves.

"Farming is no longer a livelihood," he said. "It is a profession. This is what the youth must be sold on."

Rockefeller said 90 per cent of the state's agricultural products have been processed outside the state. This provides jobs elsewhere that Arkansas could claim by processing its own products.

Red Greetings to the Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev sent birthday greetings to Pope John XXIII last weekend, the first time any Soviet premier is known to have sent any greeting to a pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Vatican said the message had been received and a reply sent but would give no details. Presumably the reply was an expression of thanks.

A spokesman at the embassy said Ambassador Semen Kozirev had been delegated by Khrushchev to extend his greetings to Pope John on his 80th birthday Nov. 25. This had been done in writing through the Vatican's apostolic nunciature in Italy, said the spokesman.

One Vatican source described the gesture as "a crooked line" and said, "with this man (Khrushchev) anything is possible."

Says Little Free Enterprise Left

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Socialist leader Norman Thomas says there isn't much free enterprise left in the United States because military spending has greatly influenced the nation's economy.

"Nine to 10 per cent of the total national product goes into the arms race," Thomas told a University of California Audience Wednesday. He said a third of the country's scientists and engineers work for the military and some five million workers are dependent upon it.

"The money can't be spent in open competitive bidding. Contracts have to be given. And the Pentagon will never think it has enough," said the 77 year old Thomas.

Stability in World Money Is Sought

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Silver and gold—paper money and credit—the seesaw relationship of the U.S. dollar to the British pound and the Canadian dollar and the German mark and the Swiss franc.

These are all parts—and often confusing parts—of the big international monetary problem that the central bankers of the Western world are trying to solve.

Their aim is to achieve some stability in world currencies and world trade, to halt or minimize the spasmodic runs on the dollar or pound with an accompanying rush to buy and hoard gold, to keep trade between nations in better balance and thus promote the economic growth of all.

The parts often confuse, even hide, the whole.

Right now the headlines center on these items:

1. The proposed U.S. move away from silver as a backing for part of its currency. The first result is a big upward push in silver prices on the commodity market, with much fluctuation expected to follow.

2. Fresh losses of gold by the U.S. Treasury as Britain buys the metal with spare dollars to bolster Bank of England reserves and protect the pound, recently under attack because of its foreign trade deficit.

3. The drop of the Canadian dollar below 96 American cents for the first time in 10 years.

All of these are expected to have political repercussions here and abroad.

President Kennedy's proposal to demonetize silver entirely, except for coins, by substituting Federal Reserve notes for some $2 billion in paper money now backed by silver seems sure to stir up the embers of historic monetary disputes in Congress.

The loss of gold by the U.S. Treasury is linked to our balance of payment deficit. We are spending more dollars overseas than we are getting back. And efforts to remedy this is stirring up one of the biggest fights in years in Congress over tariffs. Should they be lowered in return for concessions abroad on American exports? Should they be raised to protect domestic industries from foreign imports?

Some experts are suggesting a solution to the many financial problems can be found in establishing an international monetary unit—whether as currency or as central bank credit—to handle exchange procedures, bolster any temporarily threatened national currency, and keep all on as even a keel as possible in this changing world.

But through all these problems there run strong threads of nationalism and national pride.

The chances are the immediate troubles will be trashed out in the upcoming session of the U.S. Congress, in the British House of Commons, in the capitals of the Western European trading bloc.

And all the while you'll be hearing a lot about gold and silver, about tariffs and trade deficits, about possible devaluations of this or that monetary unit, about the flow of short-term investment money from one trading center to another, about spurts of buying or selling of monetary metals in world markets.

Wife Treats Him Like a Son

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My wife and I have been married six years. She is 40 I am 35. She treats me as if I were her son.

Though no saint, I don't drink or chase other women, yet still she doesn't trust me. I like to play poker with the boys once a week. It gets my mind off business and makes a complete change of pace in my more or less humdrum life. To keep peace, I stopped telling my wife where I was going on poker nights. But she took to following me. And one terrible night broke right in on a game, dragging me home by the ear. I've never lived that down with the fellows.

Now, she refused to let me out alone at night. I tried walking off once and she knocked me flat. She weighs 50 pounds more than I do. When she goes out with the girls she locks me in the bedroom. I can't even go to the kitchen for a drink of water. I'm a prisoner in my own home.

How can I convince my wife that we only play for small stakes at these poker games? It's not the Kitty it's the man talk I enjoy with guys who are old friends. —Locked-In

Dear Locked-In: You do have a serious problem which only you can solve. You must assert yourself and your manhood or you will be reduced to a life of humiliation. Try it a step at a time. Take a firm stand on some point and stick it out, no matter how much it hurts. You might start by announcing that you will not stand to be locked in your room and if she does it, you will not come home the following night. Then stick to it. Take a room at the "Y" for a night. Then, after you have won one point, go on to the next.

I know a peanut of a man whose 200-pound wife trembles if he as much as says, "Boo!"

Dear Helen: I am afraid of something though not quite sure what. Maybe it is the world tension. When I read of nuclear weapons or Russia, I shake. I am afraid of dying before I have a chance to live.

I want so much to marry and bring children into the world. But it doesn't look as if I would if my parents, let alone Russia and nuclear weapons, have anything to say about it. Though 16 and mature for my years, I am only allowed to see my boy friend weekend afternoons. My mother is concerned about my schooling, not me. I agree it's better to finish high school, but I have a terrific urge to marry now. Mother and I are far from being close. No matter what I say, or do, I'm always "Too young." She reads your column. Help me. —M.

Dear M.: Don't let the Russian bugaboo or missile propaganda scare you. The world is not coming to an end. But if it were, there is nothing we could do about it except stay on the job. And your job is to finish school.

Realistically speaking, the urge you feel is biological. All Nature cares about is pro-creation. But you, as an individual, are not yet equipped by education, or experience, to be a wife and mother. The unknown fears which beset you are simply the pangs of adolescence. In two short years you'll be of age and free to make your own decisions. Meanwhile, the higher your grades at school, the better qualified you will be to make those decisions.

Dear Helen: Miss J. A. wrote you that all married men are on the make. Brother! She really has a problem. What an unhappy married girl she will be unless she takes a good look at married men as they are.

Sure, the boys enjoy seeing a neat figure, but that doesn't mean they're all on the make. My husband and I are married 13 years. Have three fine kids and all love one another. He has his own business. Why, in Heaven's name, would a man jeopardize all this for a young, egotistical, know-it-all snip? From a wife who thinks some men are attractive but is perfectly satisfied with one swell guy—her husband. —Barbara J. Heiney, Anderson, Ind.

Dear Miss. Heiney: Three cheers for your side!

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Address her care of this newspaper and be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "A Happy Marriage."

Thinks Russia Ahead of U. S.

RUSTON, La. (AP)—A former German army guided missile expert says the "Russians will be able to intercept and shoot down our satellites within a few years, but we will not be able to shoot down theirs."

Dr. Walter Dornberger, former major general and commissioner for the German reich for all guided missiles, addressed the aerospace education symposium at Louisiana Tech Thursday night. He said he based his predictions on the Soviet rate of development as opposed to the American rate.

Dornberger, vice president and chief scientist for Bell Aerospace System Co., said the Soviet satellite program is advancing more rapidly than that of the United States.

Titan Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Titan missile steered by a new inertial guidance system successfully flew a 5,000-mile course Wednesday night.

The guidance is being developed for the more powerful Titan II missile, which will begin test flights here early next year. It is contained entirely within the missile and requires no post-launch direction from the ground as does the radio-command guidance used on the earlier Titan I.

Communist Officers Fail to Register

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officers of the Communist party in the United States have failed to meet the deadline for registering under the Internal Security Act.

This left to the Justice Department the next move in the drawn-out war of nerves between the party and the government.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said earlier this week that the department "will enforce the law."

Last Nov. 20, when the party itself defied a deadline for registering, a department spokesman said officials planned to wait at least until after the time had expired for officers to register before taking action.

That deadline passed at midnight Thursday night. Individual members of the party now have until Dec. 20 to register under the law.

The government has indicated it plans to move against the party first.

The law provides fines up to $10,000 a day for the party for each day of defiance. It provides the same fines—plus prison terms—for officers and individual members who defy the law.

Under the Security Act—fought by party leaders in the courts since its passage in 1950—the party was to have registered as an arm of the Soviet government. It was to list its officers, finances and other details.

The struggle between the government and the party came to a head last Oct. 9, when the Supreme Court refused to reconsider its decision upholding provisions of the 1950 law.

The party has stated many times that it planned to defy the law. The party has denied it is an agent of the Soviet Union and contended it should not be required to register as such. A Communist party spokesman said Thursday the number of officers had been reduced to three, but he declined to disclose how many officers there had been previously.

However, Chicago's American quoted Claude Lightfoot, a former party official, as listing the three officers as: Gus Hall, general secretary; Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, chairman; and Benjamin Davis, national secretary. All are from New York.

Lightfoot said that among the posts abolished were those of national vice chairman and Illinois chairman, both of which he once held.

The first post office was established at Davidsonville, what is now Davidsonville State Park in June 1817.

Five Hope Cage Teams Open Season Tonight

By VINCE FOSTER

The Hope cage season begins tonight with all five Hope teams participating. The Bobcats and Bobkittens journey to Arkadelphia while the junior girls, senior girls and B boys meet Saratoga for three games in Jones Field House the first game beginning at 6:30.

Although the 4AA district defending Bobcats have six returning lettermen, they lost all five starters. Those lettermen are T-Bo Roberts, 6'2", Larry Hootan, 6'2", Danny Hatfield, 6'3", David Porterfield, 6'1", Jeffery Powell, 5'10" and Earl Ray Murphy, 5'11" who is presently out with an injury. Jackie Russell, 5'11", a transfer from Bozear, is helping out also.

From last year's "B" team are Larry Walker, 6', Vince Foster, 6'3", Jabo Horton, 5'7 1/2", Bill Compton, 5'7", and Tony Purdie, 5'8".

Last year's Bobkitten all-star Mac McLarty, 5'5" is also on the squad, and all-star Dan Jones, 6'1" is missing with an injury, but will be out soon. The Cats, coached by Billy Mitchell, are taking this year and have a good chance for their second straight district crown. They are the Bobkittens meet Arkadelphia in a non-conference game at Day Academy on Henderson campus with the first game beginning at 7 p.m.

The Kittens, coached by Jim Faulkner, have all-star Jerry Bunnett returning from the team which won the district and were state runners up last year. Also starting will be Dick Willis, Paul Guerin, Ronnie Ingram, and Pat Scheeler or Buddy Jonian.

Coach John Pierce's "B" team, consisting of 10th and 11th grade players have many of those who played on the championship team of '60 and '61, and may be very strong this year.

The junior and senior girls' team, coached by Mrs. Peggy Ballant, meet Saratoga tonight. Mrs. Ballant has seven returning lettermen and of those Barbara Webster, Judy Robinson and Melba Callicum saw the most action last year.

Either go to Jones Field House tonight and boost the teams as they tangle with Saratoga, or travel to Arkadelphia and back the Bobcats and Bobkittens when they meet the Badgers. Also make plans to attend Saturday's contest here at the Bobcat and the senior girls will meet Pierce.

Porkers to Plan Final Workouts

PAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks probably will know next week just where they'll take their final training for the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl game.

George Cole, assistant athletic director at Arkansas, is making a tour of south Louisiana and Mississippi, seeking a site for the Hogs to complete their bowl training the last week in December.

Louisiana State facilities at Baton Rouge and facilities at Biloxi, Miss., are among several sites under consideration, a university source said Thursday.

The Razorbacks will begin training here early this month and work until the Christmas holidays. After a short Christmas vacation, they'll head south.

Colleges to Open Cage Seasons

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Major college basketball rocked by its second widespread scandal in a decade opens a new season tonight with a job on its hands.

After the scandals of 1950-51, it took the better part of five years before the shocked public forgot its jibes about bribes and began accepting the sport, particularly in the big, publicized arenas of the East.

What kind of reception is in store for basketball this time, after a sweeping disclosure that dragged in the names of 37 players from 22 colleges and universities, is anyone's guess.

Back again are such exceptional players as Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, Terry Disinger of Purdue, Chel Walker of Bradley, Len Chappell and Billy Packer of Wake Forest, Art Hayman of Duke, Billy McGill of Utah, Dave DeBusschere of Detroit, Johnny Rudometkin of Southern California, Vinnie Ernest and Jimmy Hadnot of Providence.

Also Don Nelson of Iowa, Gary Roggenbuck of Dayton, Carroll Broussard of Texas A&M, Del Ray Mounts and Harold Hudgens of Texas Tech, and Paul Hogue, Tony Yates and Tom Thacker of Cinderella Cincinnati, the Bearcat, which that upset mighty Ohio State in overtime in the NCAA championship final at Kansas City last March.

Ohio State, picked to again top the nation's teams in the pre-season poll of The Associated Press panel, returns with John Havlicek and Mel Nowell to accompany player of the year Lucas.

The major schedule, which moves immediately into high gear Saturday, opens with a score or more big games tonight—headed by Southern California at Missouri, Florida at Duke, Mt. St. Marys at Providence, and West Texas at Seattle.

In some Saturday features, Indiana State is at Cincinnati, Florida State at Ohio State, New Mexico at Kansas State, Southern California at Oklahoma, Pitt at Purdue, Bradley at Bowling Green, Wyoming at Wichita, Iowa at Evansville, Virginia at North Carolina, DePaul at Minnesota, Wil- liam and Mary at West Virginia, Georgia Tech at Rice, Tennessee at North Carolina State, Utah at Arizona State U., Davidson at Wake Forest and three "big arena" doubleheaders:

Manhattan vs. Dartmouth and NYU vs. Virginia Tech at Madison Square Garden; St. Joseph's (Pa.) vs. Bucknell and Seton Hall vs. Villanova at Philadelphia's Palestra; and St. Bonaventure vs. Kent and Canisius vs. Ohio U. at Buffalo, N.Y.

Quail Season Opens in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Quail season begins today in Arkansas and extends through January 31.

Bag limits are eight quail per day and eight in possession.

Hunters during the first 10 days of the season have been asked to take the right wings of their birds to specified check stations in each county so the age of the birds can be checked.

SWC Closes 'Also Ran' Play Sat.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference football campaign has its last game round Saturday and it will be a short one with only five of the eight teams in closing action.

The lone game of importance comes at Houston where the Rice Owls try for a bowl bid. They have been promised a spot in the Bluebonnet if they can beat Baylor.

Baylor has no such incentive although it likes to beat another conference team enough that it'll be trying just as hard. The Bears already are in the Gotham Bowl at New York.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian will have a quiet windup at Fort Worth. SMU is in the conference cellar and can only hope to have somebody share it by trimming old enemy TCU.

At Lubbock, Texas Tech closes a better-than-expected season against West Texas State of the Border Conference.

Texas, Arkansas and Texas A&M finished last week. Texas and Arkansas will play in the Cotton and Sugar Bowls respectively. A&M is only concerned with finding a new coach to replace the fired Jim Myers.

Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist also will be in the line-up Saturday, not because he's directing the SMU team against Texas Christian but because he'll be waiting word from the school on whether he's to continue as coach or take some other job in the system.

Meek hasn't been winning enough to suit the alumni.

Rice is a seven-point favorite to clip Baylor and push on into the Bluebonnet Bowl against Kansas. Texas Christian, which fell flat on its face last week after the big upset of Texas and took a rugged hammering from Rice, is

Pipers Surge to Hold on First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Pipers used a third-quarter scoring surge and a skimpy schedule to strengthen their fingernail hold on first place in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball League.

The Piper scoring burst propelled them past Kansas City 109-102 Thursday night and gave them a half-game lead over Pittsburgh. The Pipers entered the game—only action in the league Thursday night—leading Pittsburgh by .018 percentage points but even in games behind.

Cleveland struck for 33 points in the third period, 12 of them by Rossie Johnson, in forging an 81-70 lead.

The loss cut Kansas City's Western Division lead to two games over Los Angeles.

Four Big Scorers for State A&M

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas A&M placed four scorers in double figures despite a half-control defense Thursday night in a 69-57 basketball victory over Delta State.

Danny Chambers scored 19 points, Cecil Toon 17, Charles Cobb 13 and Solon Mobley 10. Jack Case scored 16 points for Delta. A&M built up a 42-33 halftime lead and then held Delta State scoreless for the first 1 1/2 minutes of the second half.

A 12-point choice over Southern Methodist.

Texas Tech is a mild favorite to beat West Texas State although the latter has the better record.

Four out of four last week. Here's the last effort:

Texas Christian-Southern Methodist—TCU has been haunted over its poor showing against Rice and Bluebonnet Bowl against Kansas. Rice-Baylor—Rice should win but it could be very close.

Texas Tech-West Texas State—A hunch says West Texas State.

Chisox Plan to Get Rid of Aged Players

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox determined drive to rid themselves of aged performers continued today.

Engineering his third major trade in four days, Eddie Shore, the youthful general manager, dealt two veteran pitchers, left-hander Billy Pierce and right-hander Don Larsen to the San Francisco Giants for three young players and a fourth to be named later.

The three Sox newcomers, all rookies, are first baseman, Bob Farley, 23, and right-handed pitcher Eddie Fisher, 24, and Tom Zani, 23.

"The accent is on youth," said Chicago manager Al Lopez. "We prefer to gamble on young promising players rather than continue with players who no longer can be counted on to take their regular turn on the mound."

"At best, Pierce would have been our fifth or sixth pitcher and we would have had to spot him against certain clubs. Also, we have four left-handers—Julian Pizarro, Frank Baumann, Joe Horlen and Gary Peters and Pierce became expendable."

Pierce, 34, a standout with the White Sox since 1949, had a 10-9 record last year with a 3.80 earned run average. Larsen, author of the only no-hitter in World Series history, had a fine 8-1 with the White Sox after they acquired him last June from Kansas City.

"Pierce is the key fellow in the deal," said Alvin Dark, manager of the Giants, "but we are counting on Larsen to help us, a great deal. We plan to use him as our long relief man with Stu Miller, our great relief specialist, as the short man."

The new Chicago trio enjoyed successful 1961 seasons with the Giants' Tacoma farm club in the Pacific Coast League. Farley batted .307 in 114 games, hit 20 home runs and drove in 71 runs.

Fisher had a 9-5 record. He walked only 26 and struck out 34 in 128 innings.

Zanni was brought up by the Giants late last season after compiling an 8-4 record and turning in a 2.56 earned run average in triple A. He won his only decision with the Giants.

Last Monday, the White Sox traded Minnie Miñoso, 37, to the St. Louis Cardinals for Joe Cunningham, 29, first baseman and outfielder. The next day, the Sox sent Roy Sievers, 35, their slugging first baseman, to Philadelphia for Charlie Smith, 24, a third

College Grid Season Will End Saturday

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1961 college football season finishes its regular campaign on Saturday with its annual military maneuver in gigantic Philadelphia Stadium when Army meets Navy before President Kennedy and 102,000 fans.

Indications are that one of the two service schools may get to play UCLA in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day in one of two bowl spots to be decided as the curtain falls on another hectic season. If it isn't a service academy, it will probably be either Minnesota or Michigan State of the Big Ten.

The other is the Bluebonnet Bowl spot left open for Rice (6-3) if it wins over Baylor (5-4). The latter already is ticketed for New York's Gotham Bowl against Utah State, win, lose or draw.

Alabama's Crimson Tide (9-1), playing Auburn, could nail down the No. 1 spot in next week's final Associated Press poll, and with it the mythical national title, plus a share of the Southeastern Conference title with Louisiana State.

The Tide has already indicated it will go to the Sugar Bowl to face Arkansas, making the announcement official after its game against Auburn. The Auburn Tigers (6-3), incidentally, are hoping for a Rice defeat that could send them into the Bluebonnet Bowl against Kansas.

Mississippi, ranked fifth, and sixth-ranked Colorado are the only other of the elite to see action. The Rebels (8-1) play Mississippi State (5-4) and are expected to announce acceptance of a Cotton Bowl bid to play Texas on New Year's Day.

Colorado, 8-1, with the Big Eight Title and a trip to the Orange Bowl all wrapped up, plays Air Force (3-6). Two other bowl clubs also get their last regular season tests, Georgia Tech, 6-3, and set to face Penn State in the Gator Bowl, meets Georgia (3-6), and Miami (Fla.) 6-3 and ticketed for a Dec. 16 date against Syracuse in Philadelphia's Liberty Bowl, plays Florida (4-4-1).

Other closing day games have Notre Dame facing Duke, North Carolina against Virginia, Holy Cross meeting Boston College, SMU playing Texas Christian, Oklahoma looking for its fifth straight victory after five opening losses against Oklahoma State baseman and John Buzhardt, 26, a pitcher.

Pork Cagers Go Against Jayhawks

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Junior forward Tommy Boyer, who may be Arkansas' next great basketball player, probably won't be in the starting lineup tonight when the Hogs open their season against the Kansas Jayhawks.

Boyer broke his nose in practice earlier this week and Alan Morrison, a 6-6 senior letterman, probably will replace him for the opening game.

Boyer won't be out long, though. He'll be ready before the Hogs begin Southwest Conference play in January.

Five lettermen will start against Kansas, but the Hogs are considered to be in a rebuilding year. They have little depth or height. Coach Glen Rose will have a tough time replacing Clyde Rhoden, Pat Foster and Ronnie Garner.

Playmaker guard Jerry Carlton, 6-1 returns, and he and Morrison will be the only seniors in the starting lineup. The juniors are forward Larry Wofford, 6-5; guard Jerry Rogers, 6-2, and center Bobby Anderson, 6-7.

Kansas will be favored tonight. The Jayhawks are always a top Big Eight Conference power. Kansas won the only previous game between the schools, 57-52 in 1946.

Tipoff time tonight is 7:30 p.m., a half-hour earlier than last year's games.

The Arkansas freshman Shoals, under Coach Dudley Waller, opens their season against Southwest Mo., Baptist College at Billar, Mo., Friday.

Grand Ole Opry in Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK (AP)—Staid old Carnegie Hall resounded Wednesday night with "Grand Ole Opry"—Nashville, Tenn., style—and a sell-out crowd clapped its approval.

It was the first New York appearance of the troupe from Nashville's radio station WSM, and the performance was for the benefit of the local musicians aid society.

The hall was kept jumping with banjo ballads, hillbilly stomping, clog dancing, and fast and furious fiddling.

Miss Harris, certainly a most skillful actress, never really became Queen Victoria. She was all actress as a naive young girl, a jealous wife and a sorrowing widow, with skillful make-up aging from 18 to 78 over 90 minutes. She never was convincing as the great imperious queen, not even in the now famous quarrel with her husband.

Nevertheless, it was a rewarding and eye-filling broadcast. James Donald looked handsome and performed competently as Albert. But the TV version of contemporary classic proved again that it is almost impossible to remake satisfactorily a play which a great performer has made his own property. Comparison is inevitable, and inevitably the original stars get the best of it.

Sunday—"20th Century." CBS. 6-6:30—"The Man Who Spied on Pearl Harbor," a memoir by a Japanese agent; Walt Disney show. NBC. 7:30-8:30—"A Fire Called Jeremiah," about a forest fire and its fighters.

'Victorio' Adapted to Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Victoria Regina," Lawrence Housman's play that became Helen Hayes' greatest acting triumph, has been adapted into a 90-minute television drama. Shown Thursday night on NBC, it was a beautifully produced, meticulously performed series of vignettes about the great British queen from her accession as a young girl to widowed old age.

Perhaps the play suffered from the necessity of chopping it into bits to follow the rigid TV commercial form. Or perhaps—and this is most likely—the vital elements missing were Miss Hayes and Vincent Price, who originally played Prince Albert.

Nevertheless, it was a rewarding and eye-filling broadcast. James Donald looked handsome and performed competently as Albert. But the TV version of contemporary classic proved again that it is almost impossible to remake satisfactorily a play which a great performer has made his own property. Comparison is inevitable, and inevitably the original stars get the best of it.

Sunday—"20th Century." CBS. 6-6:30—"The Man Who Spied on Pearl Harbor," a memoir by a Japanese agent; Walt Disney show. NBC. 7:30-8:30—"A Fire Called Jeremiah," about a forest fire and its fighters.

$251,000 Hempstead Nursing Home to Hold Open House From 2 to 5 p.m. This Sunday

THIS IS THE DAY ROOM, or lounge, at the south end of the Nursing Home.

HERE IS A VIEW OF TYPICAL BEDROOM.

The newly completed $251,000 Hempstead County Nursing Home will hold Open House Sunday, Dec. 3, from 2 to 5 p.m. The 30-bed home will start accepting patients on Wednesday, Dec. 6.

The building, connected to the 60-bed Hempstead Memorial Hospital extends south 265 feet and has 12,101 square feet of floor space. The project was financed with federal aid amounting to two-thirds and the hospital paying a third with no additional tax increase.

There are 12 private rooms and 18 semiprivate rooms. All rooms have connecting bath with showers and tubs. The window drapes in the semi-private rooms can be drawn around each bed, giving individual privacy. The building includes a recreation room and connecting dining room and a large day room at the south end of the building where patients can gather in privacy. Food will be prepared in the main hospital kitchen and taken to the Nursing Home kitchen in steam ovens where it will be divided and served to patients.

Each room is connected to the intercom system. Each bath and toilet is equipped with emergency buttons as well as hand rails. The building is almost completely fireproof. Two 25-ton units will air condition the building.

The project was started in March 1960 on recommendation of the hospital medical staff. The board at that time included Charles Wilson, administrator; Leo Ray, president; Roy Anderson, vice president; Dale Jones, secretary; Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, Cecil Cox, Monice Samuel and James Pilkinton. U. G. Garrett was the county judge that started the project. Since then Oak Bluffs was elected county judge and continued the project; Claude Sutton has replaced Leo Ray on the Board and Judge Lyle Brown has replaced James Pilkinton.

Weaver and Hiegel were the architects; Baylock and Associates the engineers; Lacy Construction Co. the contractor and subcontractors Paul Harris, Co. plumbing and Gibsons Co. the electrical contractor.

Persons furnishing rooms include Dr. Jim Martindale, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Stewart, Mrs. Mary Hamn, the WOW and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Temple. The Poultry Production Association and Roy Anderson have purchased televisions for the home.

AAU Rapped by College Sports Group

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — College sports leaders have stepped up their drive for more control over amateur sports with a double barreled attack on the Amateur Athletic Union.

AAU officials, meeting here in their annual convention, fired back Thursday and there was promise of more hostilities over the weekend.

Each side says the U. S. team to the 1964 Olympics will suffer if the other side wins.

Don Canham, University of Michigan coach and executive vice president of the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association, said in Ann Arbor the track coaches are seeking a federation to rule over track and field affairs, now governed solely by the AAU.

Basketball coaches already have made a similar proposition. They have scheduled their fifth meeting with AAU officials Wednesday to discuss the controversy.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, in a report released in Kansas City, threatened a boycott of AAU events unless the colleges are given more power over amateur athletic events.

"The AAU takes the position that no other organization or segment of amateur athletics shall be accorded a significant place in determining amateur sports policies in the United States or this nation's position on international sports questions," the NCAA report said. "In other words, the AAU believes that this is its exclusive prerogative."

"They want either to destroy the AAU or make it so impotent it can't operate," replied AAU President N. J. Barack of Columbus, Ohio. "If the AAU is ever going to die, it's going to die fighting."

Canham said Charles D. Werner of Penn State, president of the college track coaches group, would voice the association's views in a statement to the AAU convention this weekend.

Natural Fallout Shelters Sought

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Architectural-engineering firms will seek out natural and man-made structures in Arkansas suitable for transformation into fallout shelters, and a separate survey will be made for each area, said M. E. Crippen, chief of the shelter survey section of the Little Rock Distribut of Army Engineers. Buildings, caves, mines and tunnels will be inspected to determine places where a minimum of 50 persons could find protection from nuclear fallout.

Packers Have Respect for the Giants

By DAVE O'HARA Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers concede high respect for the New York Giants, but little else. The Western Division leaders think their Eastern rivals are no tougher than many other National Football League clubs.

"New York can't be any rougher than most of the others we meet throughout the season," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "Sure, the Giants are very strong. But so are the Lions, the Rams, the Colts and others. They're all rough."

Lombardi managed a few relaxed chuckles Thursday after a workout attended by several standouts who missed early week practice sessions because of injuries and an outbreak of flu. Only veteran defensive tackle Dave Hanner and Green Bay's trio of Army privates were missing.

The leaders of the West and East place 9-2 records on the line Sunday in a showdown at Milwaukee County Stadium, the Packers' home-away-from-home 125 miles south of Green Bay. The Packers hold a 2½ game lead in their division, while the Giants are in a battle in the East, holding only a game margin on Philadelphia.

Noting that New York must move to a meeting with the Eagles at Philadelphia a week from Sunday, Lombardi said:

"They've got to win this one and it should be interesting. Because of their position and schedule, the Giants have a little bit more going for them. But our fellows don't know the meaning of the word quit and we'll be ready for them."

Since adult penguins usually outnumber the chicks, there is spirited competition to adopt orphans and strays. Baby penguins are often killed in the fray.

Tetanus Linked to Grid Helmets

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A football helmet rubbing on boils on the neck may have given an east Arkansas youth tetanus, the state Health Department said Thursday.

Dr. William L. Bunch Mr., director of the Division of Communicable Disease Control, said the youth is in a Memphis hospital. He said the disease is usually fatal.

Bunch said tetanus organisms are likely to be found on football fields since fertilizers of animal waste are known to contain tetanus spores.

The identity of the youth was not disclosed.

Rookie of the Year Is Schwall

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Don Schwall, who came up to the Boston Red Sox from Seattle in late May to pitch his way into an assignment in the All-Star game, was voted the American League Rookie of the Year for the 1961 season today.

The 6-foot-6 right-hander edged Dick Howser, Kansas City shortstop, by one vote in the closest competition since the award was officially instituted by the Baseball Writers' Association in 1940.

Billy Williams, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, gained the rookie award in the National League, which was announced Thursday.

Schwall received seven and Howser six of the 20 votes cast as six players, the most in any year, were given consideration.

Lee Thomas, hard-hitting outfielder of the Los Angeles Angels, pitched three innings for the American League in the second All-Star game and was charged with one run in a game that ended in a 1-1 tie.

Celtics Lose to Red Hot Cincinnati

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics, leading the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association by four games, might be out of sight if it weren't for the teams in the West. Cincinnati, led by Jack Twyman and Oscar Robertson, mounted a big last-quarter comeback and clipped the Celts 133-130 in Providence, R.I., Thursday night.

It was only the third loss in 17 games for the three-time league champions, but all have been to Western Division teams.

The Celtics had a 20-point lead early in the third period, then went cold. The lead dwindled to 10 going into the fourth period, and the combination of Twyman and Robertson, who scored 63 points between them, whittled away.

It was the only league game scheduled.
